

Dear reader,

August is a good moment to take stock of what has been achieved at this time of the year, and plan the upcoming months.

Looking back at the first 7 months of 2022, we would definitely highlight the great results of our regional pilots in the Republic of Cyprus, Örebro and Murcia; and the strenghtening of CHERRIES Community.

The three regional pilots are now concluded and the regions are currently analysing the outcomes of the territorial implementation of the CHERRIES methodology.

At the same time, the selected Mirror Regions have attended the CHERRIES training course and started adapting the project methodology to their regional contexts with the support and advice of CHERRIES Pilot Regions (coaching programme).

The CHERRIES Conference "Connecting Responsible Innovation Ecosystem" held in Brussels on May 24-25, represented a great opportunity to share regional learnings and reinforcing the community, who was gathering in person for the first time since the spread of COVID-19 pandemic. The event turned out to be a fundamental milestone for the CHERRIES Community. A community and impactful territorial strategies. Read more about the event and its outcomes here.

What's next?

After the Summer Break, it will be time to reflect on CHERRIES results and discuss the way forward - both at regional and international level.

CHERRIES Pilot Regions will invite their regional stakeholders to share some conclusions and suggestions on the sustainability of the pilots. More information about the regional workshops will be available on our communication channels soon.

Last but not least, we are glad to announce that CHERRIES is an official partner of the European Week of Regions and Cities: on October 12th we'll run a the session "Shaping the Next Generation of Regional Innovation Policies: Open, Responsible and Inclusive". Save the date, registrations will open on August 31st!

As usual, follow us on Twitter and LinkedIn for regular updates!
